

CRUSHING YOUR TECH INTERVIEW COURSE (non-technical interviews).

My students ace 40-50% more interviews vs. average; see testimonials page HERE.

8-step module covering everything you need to know	Details	What we teach you
Step 1: pick the right projects	Highlight the right projects to talk about during the interview – know exactly what the hiring manager is looking for.	How to dissect the Job Description / your resume to identify 'Star Projects' that set you up for the rest of your interview prep.
Step 2: nail resume-based questions	Example: "walk me through your resume", "tell me something I can't find on your resume," "tell me about your experience at your company X"	Tested-and-proven frameworks to tackle each type of question, with 'ideal response' answers from successful candidates.
Step 3: nail company/product-based questions	Example: "how does company X make money?" "what's your favorite company X product and why?"	The exact 18 types of questions to prepare for here & 'ideal response' answers for each.
Step 4: nail behavioral questions	Example: "tell me about a time when you....."	CARL framework (NOT 'STAR') to tackle these questions, dozens of REAL questions asked in 2022 Tech interviews, and 'ideal response' answers.
Step 5: nail problem-solving questions	Example: "how many babies are born in Singapore per year?", "how do we increase revenue for Product X?"	Tested-and-proven frameworks to tackle each type of problem-solving question, REAL case questions from top Tech companies, and 'ideal response' answers from candidates who won offers.
Step 6: nail motivation questions	Example: "why do you want to work at company X?"	Tested-and-proven frameworks to tackle each type of question, with 'ideal response' answers from successful candidates.
Step 7: nail 'other' misc. questions	Examples: "what's your greatest weakness?", "do you have any questions for me?"	Exactly what you should say / not say for these types of questions, with 'ideal response' answers from successful candidates.
Step 8. network with hiring team members	If done properly, this gives you a real competitive edge; 90% of candidates won't do this.	Learn how to do the following through the networking – 1) make strong impression so you stand out before interview even starts; 2) gain unique insights that'll set you apart during the interview
